

Wilson Launches On New Tack In Appealing To People In Food-Producing States

(BY DAVID LAWRENCE)

ENROUTE WITH PRESIDENT WILSON TO BISMARCK, N. D., Sept. 11.—More sinister than political, the menace of industrial revolution, more vital to America than a mere choice as between foreign policies is the prospect of trying to do business with a Europe in disorder. That is the new tack on which President Wilson has launched as he passes through Minnesota and the Dakotas. For where foodstuffs are produced to feed the world the people are interested in foreign markets and the ability of foreign countries to pay for their purchases. The president sought in his speeches at Sioux Falls and before the Minnesota legislature to show that the cost of living is related to the disturbed economic situation of Europe and that the economic turmoil in Europe cannot be quieted until the people there know what kind of a peace is to come and who is to guarantee it and finally, the president insisted that Europe cannot tell the immediate direction of her trade winds and welfare, until she knows whether or not the United States means to assist her or stand aloof.

Mr. Wilson did not need to make an analytical argument for the League of Nations or treaty of peace in this region. For the people are overwhelmingly in favor of the idea. If reservations do not mean textual amendments, then there is no particular objection to them. As between a league without reservations and no league at all, the people would vote for an unqualified covenant. But they will follow Senator Keats Nelson on that point. For in the Dakotas and Minnesota, the unmistakable fact is that people who are bitterly opposed to Mr. Wilson and some of his domestic policies, but a large majority, would rather see the treaty of peace out of the way than see it delayed by a quibbling senate. Until the president came out this way, they had taken it for granted that the senate would not delay peace.

TRY A TIMES WANT AD. They cover a large territory and bring results.

Ludendorff Tells How Germans Massed Forces For 1918 Drive

Why did Ludendorff's armies smash the great British defenses so completely in his offensive of 1918? How could he concentrate such huge forces of infantry, even move such masses of artillery, without being discovered by air scouts?

These are questions that have puzzled the Allied people ever since the German hordes administered the great military shocks of last year—the shocks that came so perilously close to bringing the victory he sought for German militarism.

In the fifth excerpt from his book, "My Thoughts and Actions," printed today, he answers these questions. His method of concentrating his artillery with a big gun every eleven yards on a front of over thirty miles and getting the range for each gun without being compelled to fire it and expose its position, is a revelation of artillery tactics.

By ERICH VON LUDENDORFF

The training of the army for the 1918 offensive was a tremendous task.

Diversion of Thought of Army from Trench Warfare Back to the Offensive a Big Undertaking; Planned Thin Line Instead of Mass Attack.

SAYS TANKS WERE EFFECTIVE BECAUSE GERMAN ARMY LOST ITS NERVE AND HAD "TANK FRIGHT"

For this we had to utilize the winter of 1917-18, as the previous one had been devoted to training in defense.

In the same way in which tactical theories had then been summarized in the "Defensive Battle," so now in the "Offensive Battle in Position Warfare" came into being. We had to revise in the minds of the fighting forces all those excellent offensive principles which inspired our pre-war regulations. They had to be supplemented by more recent experience in actual battle. Without checking the vigor of the attack, we had to keep down losses as much as possible. The whole line of thought of the Army had to be diverted from trench warfare back to the offensive.

While in the defense the forces in a given sector were more evenly distributed, in the attack the problem was to discover some decisive point and arrange the distribution accordingly. In defense, commanding ground had lost much of its value. The battle of Arras had once more demonstrated it. Positions were held which were completely open to the enemy's view. Often the troops had thought they could not resist without the possession of some height or other; but if they did not get it they managed to carry on.

In the attack in the war of movement the capture of some high ground brought about tactical decision. Its possession must therefore be striven for as a matter of principle.

IN WEST TO CONSULT WITH THE CITIZENS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 11.—Rejection of the peace treaty with its League of Nations' covenant, or adoption of amendments, would mean sacrifice by the United States of all concessions obtained from Germany under a dictated peace, minority members of the foreign relations committee declared in a report presented today to the senate.

The report, prepared by Senator Hittelcock, of Nebraska, ranking Democratic member of the committee, urged speedy ratification of the treaty without amendments or reservations. It declared "the long and unnecessary delay to which the treaty has been subjected, while locked up in the committee, whose recommendations were from the start a foregone conclusion," and asserted these recommendations could have been made in July.

Senator Shields, Democratic, Tennessee, did not join the report, having announced that he favored league covenant reservations prepared by Chairman Lodge. It was stated that he would not present a separate report. Those signing in addition to Senator Hittelcock were Senators Williams, Mississippi; Swanson, Virginia; Tamm, Ohio; Smith, Arizona, and Phillips, Nevada, all Democrats.

The minority denied the claim put forth in Chairman Lodge's report that the peace conference still was in session and has power "to bring German representative to Paris," saying such power of compulsion had been exhausted and that Germany "had closed the chapter by signing and by ratifying."

"If an amended treaty is not signed by Germany," the report added, "then it is in none of its parts binding on us."

WOULD LOSE 12 CONCESSIONS

The report mentioned 12 concessions the United States would lose by failure to ratify the treaty, these including industrial and economic advantages and agreements.

Reservations proposed by the majority, the report said, were "for the purpose of destroying the league," which stood "the test of world wide criticism and unlimited attack."

The minority urged that the work of the peace conference be confirmed and (Continued on Page Eight)

Adrift In Small Boats

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 11.—A wireless message received here early this morning said 45 persons were adrift in small boats between Forey Rock lighthouse and Cape Florida about 15 miles from Miami. All were reported "in distress" and without food or water.

No details were given and there was nothing to indicate their identity, but it was presumed they were members of crews of ships that went down during the hurricane that swept this section early yesterday. Boats have left here to bring them in.

ARMY ASKED FOR AID IF NECESSARY IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—A request that regular army troops be prepared to respond to a call for emergency duty here was wired to Secretary of War Baker by Governor Coolidge today. The governor previously had made a similar request of the secretary of the navy.

BOSTON, MASS., Sept. 11.—Governor Coolidge today wired the secretary of the navy a request that naval forces be held in readiness for a call to supply additional troops for Boston's protection. With six regiments of state guard under arms, the governor has mobilized all the forces at his command.

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—Governor Coolidge this afternoon, by proclamation, took complete control of the situation surrounding the police strike and use of military forces in Boston. The governor said he took this action in his capacity as commander-in-chief of the military forces of the state, all of which have been called out.

BOSTON, MASS., Sept. 11.—The death today of a young woman believed to be Miss Margaret Walsh brought the number of last night's riot victims to four. The young woman was shot during the disturbance in the south Boston district, where state guard troops fired into a crowd. Two men were killed at the same time.

NINE GAMES IN WORLD SERIES

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 11.—Nine games will be played in the world series baseball games this year, as against seven last year, August Herrmann, chairman of the National commission, announced today. Herrmann said a majority of the clubs of both the National and American leagues had ratified the recommendation that nine games be played.

Herrmann said that the vote of the clubs on the proposition to lengthen the schedule from seven to nine games would not be given at this time. A schedule of nine games will be prepared by the National Baseball Commission, but series will be over and the winner determined as soon as one of the clubs wins five games.

Looting Of American And Other Embassies By Reds In Petrograd Confirmed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Looting of the American and other embassies in Petrograd has been confirmed by an investigation made for the state department. It was announced today by Acting Secretary Phillips. A cablegram dated September 6, said that Bolsheviks during the middle of July sacked the American embassy, which since has been used for housing families of some of the Bolshevik commissars. Most of the foreigners arrested by the Bolsheviks in these raids have been sent to Moscow, it was said.

In the raid on the American embassy, Miss Karin Sante was at first put under arrest and later released but sent to Moscow with the other foreigners. The Misses Kennedy and Levisque, other employees, were not molested. Some of these were American. Miss Sante was a Finnish copyist of the embassy, who consented to remain in charge of the embassy premises and archives. Most of the embassy archives had been removed from Petrograd.

Recently an emissary, not an American, sent into the Bolshevik territory to ascertain the facts regarding the looting of the embassy, was killed by the Bolsheviks.

SERBS WITHOUT INSTRUCTIONS

CHICAGO'S BUILDING TIE-UP ENDS

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—After weeks of tie-up by a strike of carpenters and a lockout of allied trades, Chicago's building industry will be resumed tomorrow and be in full swing by Monday. This announcement was made after two days' conference between leaders.

The agreement provides that the carpenters are to resume work at 62 1/2 cents an hour until May, 1920, when they will be placed on the same wage basis existing for other skilled trades. The carpenters struck for $1 an hour. A special meeting for ratification of the agreement will be held tonight, according to President Briggs and other members of the committee.

Storm Hits The Coast

KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 11.—With daylight today following the storm of yesterday, the people of Key West and surrounding territory were able for the first time to survey the destruction wrought by the hurricane that swept through here Tuesday night. Not a house in the city had escaped damages and many were totally wrecked. The harbor presented a tangled mass of fishing vessels and other small craft, but latest reports failed to show deaths other than those on the dredge Grampus.

Of the 14 men on this craft ten were rescued last night, one body was recovered and three are missing. The British tanker, Touawanna, which had to be scuttled to save the lives of her crew, was also broken. The Comal after that vessel had broken her moorings and gone aground, was reported not in a bad position. The steamer St. George also broke loose. No vessels had left port early today nor had any trains come in over the Florida East Coast railway. In addition to the temporary stoppage of gas and electricity, the telephone service was suspended and newspapers were forced to suspend publication. Some business places, all of which were closed yesterday, including restaurants, were opened today. A sur-

REDS CLAIM BIG CAPTURE

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A Bolshevik wireless dispatch from Moscow today claims the capture of nearly 12,000 prisoners from Admiral Kolchak's all-Russian forces in the region of Akhtubin-Skorski. It is declared the surrender of the remainder of Kolchak's southern army is expected.

It was a mistake, therefore, the president continued, to debate the peace treaty as if it were an ordinary treaty. It was not merely a treaty with Germany, he said, but a treaty affecting a settlement of the affairs of the world. "And it is this treaty or no treaty," he added, "it is this treaty because there can be no other."

"This settlement is the first international settlement that is based upon the happiness of the average people throughout the world. It is a people's treaty, and I venture the prediction that it is not wise for parliaments and congresses to attempt to alter it."

It is a severe treaty, the president went on, but justly so. Some of the men who had called it unduly harsh, he added, were criticizing the administration a year ago because they thought the United States would be too easy with Germany.

"They were pitiless then," he added, "they are pitiful now."

The American dead in the war, Mr. Wilson declared, had fought not for the reconquest of America, but for the redemption of the world. It was one of the hardest of his trials during the

STEEL MEN CALL STRIKE FOR SEPT. 22

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—In less of the request of President Wilson that they take no action pending the coming industrial conference, representatives of organized workers in the steel industry have today called a strike effective September 22, to compel recognition of their unions and the principle of collective bargaining by the United States Steel Corporation.

The executive council of the twenty-four unions represented among the workers made known their decision in an announcement issued after they had requested the president by telegraph for a more definite statement as to the possibilities of arranging a conference with steel corporation officials and after they had received a reply from the president asking that they withhold action until after the industrial conference.

The president's telegram was not made public by the steel union heads but his content became known in Washington last night through press dispatches. In their statement the executive council merely said they had not been advised that the efforts of the president have been any more successful than the efforts of the union.

Union officials tonight firmly refused to indicate in any speculation regarding the extent of the strike through a declaration attributed to Judge Gary of the steel corporation, that the steel workers were not more than ten per cent organized, was admitted as erroneous. The steel corporation was said to employ about 200,000 persons and the entire industry made 400,000.

In some places, it was said, the workers do not work organized and are actually in the hands of the mill owners, have been working for weeks and still are working to obtain results for the union.

This complaint of organization officials has been opposed vigorously by the mill owners, who were said to have adopted every possible method to defeat it. Claims were made that at least 100,000 men in the Pittsburgh district, 100,000 in the West Virginia district, and 100,000 in the Ohio district were organized and would support the call for a strike.

In addition, it was said, the workers would have been organized by the steel industry.

HARDING TO VOTE FOR TREATY AMENDMENTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Declaring his intention to vote for amendments to the peace treaty, Senator Harding, Republican, of Ohio, told the senate today that every day of discussion, presidential preference included, that every hour of study combined to persuade him that "the League of Nations venture in the form in which the covenant has been negotiated is one of peril to the republic." To accept it unaltered, he argued, would be betrayal of America.

"I can never vote without safeguards," said the senator, "and I mean to vote for the amendments proposed by the committee. If the president is correct in declaring the proposed reservations will send the treaty back then the world is to start all over again. If the world is to start all over again, I ought to start with the square deal. The treaty has not written H; the square deal was reserved for informing al promises."

Pointing out that this country had sought no territory, Senator Harding said if Europe will enter the league and people, "we cannot blunder but we not approve and surely we need not guarantee."

"It is my deliberate conviction," he said, "that the League of Nations covenant as negotiated at Paris either creates a super-government of the nations which enter it or it will prove the colossal disappointment of the ages."

"I cannot believe this republic ought to sanction it in either case. It will not break the heart of the world to make the covenant right or at least free from perils which would endanger American independence," the senator said, "but" he added, "it were better to witness this rhetorical tragedy than to destroy the soul of this great republic."

SHOOT HIM ON THE SPOT, SAYS G. A. R. LEADER

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11.—If any one attempts to raise the red flag of anarchy in this country, shoot him on the spot," declared Clarence E. Adams, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, in making his annual address at the national encampment of the G. A. R. here today.

Deafening cheers which fairly shook Memorial hall followed this declaration of the Grand Army chief.

"In retrospect, let me say," Commander Adams declared, "the Grand Army of the Republic has stood, not only as the bulwark of freedom and justice in the past, but it has strenuously combated every disturbing element in our country. It has opposed the pernicious doctrines of class rights, corporatism, socialism and communism, but today it is battling the anarchist, the Socialist, the I. W. O. and Bolshevists."

Commander Adams paid high tribute to all soldiers of all wars of the United States and expressed the hope that the soldiers' organizations of all wars will form a mighty patriotic federation, to the end that the love of our own United States may receive an impetus which will carry it to the highest ideals for which they fought and sacrificed.

"MICKEY"

The Picture You Will Never Forget
TODAY AT THE COLUMBIA
The Incomparable Masterpiece of All Times
Mabel Normand

In Mack Sennett's $500,000 Super-Production

"MICKEY" is full of fun and frolic. It sparkles with humor, and bubbles with laughter, so that there is not a dull moment. And when the play is finished it seems much too short.

The comedy is built upon the reality of human incidents and situations. Every laugh is sincere, running through the play as golden threads run through a piece of cloth, giving it pattern, richness and texture.

DO NOT WAIT

Many people will be unable to see "Mickey" unless they attend the matinees at the Columbia, as the evenings will be taxed to capacity, and "Mickey" never lags. This engagement is for four days only, and do not wait until Saturday, the last day, to see it, for many will be unable to gain admission. Over 10,000 patrons made this mistake in Cincinnati when "Mickey" played there. Permit us to request that you attend early.

Admission 50 cents for adults, Children 25c.

Starting promptly each day at 1:30 and running continuous throughout supper hour.

WHEAT SCAB SERIOUS; SEED TREATMENT IS ESPECIALLY IMPORTANT THIS YEAR

The wheat scab disease caused by a pink fungus has been more injurious to the crop in 1919 than in average years. It has been found that the scab fungus is the same as that which causes the root rot of corn, hence rotations in wheat growing may influence the amount of wheat scab present.

Do you know the amount of scab in your fields? Scab counts made by a field assistant of the Office of Cereal Investigations, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, show very striking amounts of the disease all over the state. In Scioto County fields were found to contain as high as 40 per cent infected heads, many others 12 to 20 per cent. These counts show that the losses from this fungus may be serious. The shriveled and disease infected kernels are unfit for seedling. Wheat scab may be recognized at ripening time. Just before the wheat heads ripen and while the glumes are still green in color the scab disease shows by the brownish and drying of the glumes with the associated pink fungus. Any part of the whole head may be infected.

How To Reduce Scab Infection
Complete control of wheat scab seems unlikely with our intensive types of farm rotations and with manure applications made during the croppings. The scab producing fungus will be carried on wheat straw and stubble and upon stems of clover and grasses. The essential problem is direct lines of disease transmission by shriveled kernels, adhering spores on healthy grain and dirty sacks, drills etc.

Recommendations—Separate all shriveled kernels from wheat to be used for seed by using a good fanning mill.

Treat the good seed remaining with formaldehyde to kill spores of the fungus and subject the drills, sacks etc., to this same treatment. This same treatment will also control smutting smut of wheat but will not prevent the loose smut.

Farm Agent,
W. F. GAILL.

Keller Brings In More Dogs

Five additional untaxed dogs were taken this morning by Constable Keller, deputy sheriff and official dog catcher, and the county dog pound now houses 32 unfortunate canines. A big dog sale will be held the last of the week and those not sold or redeemed by their owners will be put to death.

While license tags are selling rapidly, 2511 having been disposed of by Auditor Eckhart, up until today noon this leaves a great many dogs outside the fold as 4020 tags were sold in 1918. These figures would indicate that the dog catcher faces the task of taking 1509 how-ows to equal last year's record.

Auto Repair Case Heard

The case of Scott Hancock, proprietor of a garage at New Haven against Harry Coplan was heard by Squire Flinzy yesterday and then taken under advisement by the court.

Hancock sued on a claim of $17 for repairs on an automobile belonging to a man named White, claiming that the defendant ordered the work done and agreed to pay the bill.

The defense claimed that the machine needed repairs before Coplan borrowed it for a drive and charged that the plaintiff and White had conspired to "stick" him for the repair bill. Coplan denied damaging the car or ordering Hancock to repair the car and send the bill to him.

Attorney J. T. Micklethwait for Hancock and Attorney W. R. Sprague for Coplan.

Motion Overruled

Judge Thomas today, in common pleas court, overruled the motion of the defense to require the plaintiff to make his petition more definite and certain in the case of Grover Barr against The Independent Taxi company.

Barr sued for damages alleged to have been sustained to his household goods and furniture while being transported from Wellston to this city by the defendant.

Burton Wants a Divorce

Alleging that his wife continually cursed and abused him, and even went so far as to threaten to take his life, Cecil M. Burton is seeking a divorce in an action filed in common pleas court today against Lora Burton, whom he married March 11 last.

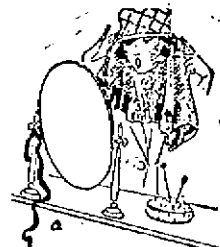

In his bill of complaint Burton also charges that the defendant failed and neglected to do her household work, and by reason of her neglect, he says, they are now living apart. The plaintiff sued through Attorney T. C. Beatty.

A Hot Spot Chalmers gives you Throbless Action

AS you sit in the rear seat of a Hot Spot Chalmers you can neither hear, feel, nor sense an engine in the chassis.

You have a feeling of some invisible monster towing you through space. There's no jerk, no throb, no vibration, no shaking of body or fender.

This is because Hot Spot predigests the raw gas after it leaves the carburetor—"cracks it up fine"—puts the low grade gas of the hour into perfect shape to get out all the power that nature put in. Ram's-horn, greater in many ways even than Hot Spot, rushes the "powdered gas" an equal distance to each cylinder with the speed of lightning. So that each cylinder gets its share alike; no left-over, no foul gas being passed to any one cylinder as in so many engines.

Result: vibration is absent, throbs are impossible, and you get motoring de luxe such as you never before experienced.

27 PERISH WHEN SUGAR SHIP SINKS

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 11.—Twenty-seven members of the crew of the Ward line steamer Corydon lost their lives when the vessel foundered in the Bahamas channel in the hurricane which passed over Florida Tuesday. Survivors clinging to a lifeboat drifted to shore at Cape Florida this morning.

The survivors numbering nine, reported that all but one of the lifeboats was pulled under by the suction of the sinking vessel. Captain C. O. Christensen and a number of the seamen went down with the ship. The Corydon was loaded with 24,850 bags of sugar, bound from Cuba for New York.

The Corydon survivors drifted for two days without food or water and were in a pitiable condition. They included Third Mate H. L. Meadows, of Chatham, Mass.; F. Anderson, superintendent of cargo; M. M. Johnson, radio operator, and six men of the crew.

HAIR HINTS

Helpful Advice for Care of the Hair Worthy of the Attention of Everyone Who Would Avoid Dandruff, Itching Scalp, Gray Hair and Baldness.

If your hair is getting thin or you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp use Parfalon soap daily for a week and you will surely be surprised to see how quickly it stops your hair from falling and removes every sign of dandruff and itching scalp.

"Before going to bed I use a little Parfalon soap on my scalp," says a woman whose hair is soft and healthy and who never has dandruff. "This keeps my hair from being dry, brittle or itchy, helps it to retain its natural color and beauty, and makes it easy to dress attractively."

Beautiful, soft, glossy, healthy hair, and this of it, is a simple matter for those who use Parfalon. This hair soap is a gentle, delicate perfume and does not grease the hair. It is sold by Waverly Drug and at all drug stores. It is a money-back guarantee in every package.—Adv.

MISS BLAIR HERE LOOKING UP ANCESTORS

Dead on getting a line on her ancestors who figured prominently in the early history of Scioto county, Miss Mary F. Blair of Chicago arrived here Wednesday and cheerfully faces a laborious task.

Her great-grand father back in 1830 owned a valuable tract of land on Carey's Run, and believing that residents living there today may know something of her relatives Miss Blair spent the day on Carey's Run. Many years ago her relatives moved to Jo, Davies county, Illinois, and remained there many years. Miss Blair says she has succeeded in tracing her relatives from the time they settled in New England until they reached Illinois with the exception of the gap in the early history of Scioto county, which is to be closed up this gap and get a continuous line on her relationship.

Some of Miss Blair's relatives married into the family of the late Captain Enos Moore and she says her great-grand father helped build the Ohio and Erie Canal. Miss Blair would be grateful for any information that would assist her in making a perfect link from the time her relatives settled in New England until they passed away.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Nettie Cooper
Mrs. Nettie Cooper, wife of George Cooper, who is employed as an electrician in the Whitaker-Glessner plant, died last night at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. W. Wilson, of Manchester. She had been ill several weeks. Mrs. Cooper, in addition to her husband and mother, leaves four sisters, Kate and Jess of Cincinnati, Gile and Grace of Manchester, and three brothers, Jerome and George of Manchester and Frank of this city.

The body will arrive here Friday on the afternoon C. & O. train and will be taken direct to Greenlaw cemetery for interment. The last rites will be in charge of Walter Hagler.

Capt. John C. Bybee
Capt. John C. Bybee, a resident of Wichita, Kansas, died August 18, 1919, at the hospital of The National Military Home, Leavenworth, Kansas, of heart trouble. He was born March 1, 1861, at Washington Court House, Ohio. Interment was made at the home, August 20th with full military honors.

At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted in the First Ohio Cavalry, and saw service with Gen. Kilpatrick in Virginia. His term of enlistment expired and on returning to his home he joined Co. H, 1st Ohio Infantry, and he was with that regiment at the close of the conflict. He entered service as a private and was mustered out a captain. His deeds of valor were recounted in Ohio papers in 1893, but was too modest and unassuming to tell of them.

After the war he spent some time in the South and in the early 70's came to Missouri, locating at Butler, Bates county. He was the first city marshal of that city.

He was married to Sarah Holcomb of Butler, Mo., in 1882 and to this union four children were born, the eldest, Edna, dying in infancy. For more than twenty years he was employed by the Missouri Pacific Railway in the capacity of clerk at Harrisonville, Butler and Tiffin. At Tiffin during the political campaign of 1912, he was in charge of the Republican headquarters and was an active worker in behalf of that party. Due to his 100 per cent Americanism he worshipped the memories of General Grant and the immortal Lincoln.

In 1915 he was associated with his son in the publication of weekly papers at Tiffin and Oologah, Okla. He entered the Soldiers Home in 1918 and during his short stay there was an active worker and officer in Thomas Freeman Post No. 4, A. R. U. He himself made it a duty to visit the sick in the Hoag hospital each day, writing their letters and giving them cheer.

In his family life he was kind and helpful. A dutiful husband and an unselfish father.

The deceased is survived by a wife, Mrs. Sarah Holcomb Bybee of Wichita, Kan., and three children: Mrs. Andrew Charles and John J. Bybee, Wichita, Kansas and Mrs. Walter A. Smith, East End, Okla., and by two sisters, Mrs. Cynthia Hess, Butler, Pa. and Mrs. Kate Allen, Washington, D. C., Ohio.

Funeral
The funeral services of Leo Griebel, who succumbed to a second stroke of paralysis Wednesday morning, at his home 701 Grimes avenue, will be held at the St. Mary's church at 8:30 A. M. Saturday, with Rev. T. A. Goebel officiating. Burial will be held at the Greenlaw cemetery.

Alma Edith Gammon
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gammon, of Sunbury, Ky., was saddened Friday, Sept. 6, at night p. m., when the Death Angel took their only daughter, Alma Edith, who had been seriously ill for more than a week with complications. Diphtheria developed, and in her debility she only survived a few hours.

The child was born Sept. 24, 1911, being seven years, eleven months and thirteen days old at the time of her death. She was a lovely child, beyond the average in intelligence, and had many friends and was loved by all who knew her.

She is survived by her parents and four brothers, Alvin, Ray, Denver and Wade, who sadly miss her. This was the first death in the family and the blow seems almost unbearable.

Funeral services were held at the home at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, Sept. 7, with Rev. Robert Menzies in charge. Burial in Mt. Zion cemetery.

144 Fires Are Reported, 11 Are Found Bona Fide

JACKSON, Sept. 17.—The sudden ending of the trial of W. W. Fife for forgery when the defense submitted the case without offering any evidence or argument came as a great surprise. Prosecutor John G. Evans spoke briefly for the State, but when the defense announced that they would offer no argument, the case went to the jury without argument on the part of the State.

The jury remained out nearly an hour and a half before returning the verdict of guilty. They agreed at once on the first two counts of the indictment but there was difference of opinion regarding the third count, as to the false uttering and forging of the order, for $425. The jury stood ten to two for conviction Morris E. Davis and George Lucas holding out on the first two counts, but they then agreed and made the verdict unanimous on the three counts.

The defense announced that a motion for a new trial will be filed on the ground of error. The motion may be filed in three days. The penalty for forgery is imprisonment for from one to twenty years, but Courts give altogether against the three men. A early intermediate sentences under the new law.

The State Fire marshal is continuing investigations of alleged fires and it is reported that 144 cases have been unearthed up to this time of which perhaps eleven are bona fide. In the trial just ended, only one of the three Elites was concerned. There remain eleven other indictments against him, three for forgery, four for obtaining money under false pretenses, and four for issuing instruments. Twelve indictments were brought May 28, 1919 against W. E. Fife and eleven indictments against Fife. The charges against Fife are making thirty-five indictments against the three men. A number of the cases are felonies while others are misdemeanors.

PIKE COUNTY GUN VICTIM BETTER

William Armstrong, Camp Creek, Pike county farmer, who was shot 10 days ago, is steadily recovering from his wounds in Hempstead hospital and his chances for a complete recovery are improving every day. He was shot in the abdomen and for several days his condition was most critical. His intestines were perforated by the leaden missile and it was not believed that he could survive and was rushed to the hospital, where a delicate operation was performed. URGED TO TAKE PART IN W. S. S. DRIVE

Supt. E. O. McCowen of the Scioto County public schools today appealed to teachers and school children to take an active part in the War Savings Stamp campaign this fall. The teaching of thrift is to be emphasized more than ever in the Ohio schools. Superintendent E. O. McCowen has asked for the co-operation of all the Scioto County teachers. Every school pupil here can become a member of the 'Ohio First Club' by purchasing or selling one War Saving Stamp or more. Teachers also are eligible for membership and Superintendent E. O. McCowen is especially desirous that as many pupils and teachers as possible become members. All members of the club selling more than $500 worth of War Savings before the end of the year will be awarded a medal.

"MICKEY" DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCES

Despite the heavy showers that were enough to dampen the spirits of any movie fan, a large crowd went out to see the first evening showing of "Mickey" starring Mable Normand, at the Columbia theater Wednesday. The audience, however, were unusually large, and the "M. K. O." sign was hung up several times.

Action stands out in Mickey more than anything else, as there is not a dull minute from start to finish, and although one of the best advertised pictures in the city, little has been said of the dramatic changes taken by the star and the supporting cast. Mickey is seen rising in a home row with fourteen other contestants, and does the trick. Well, well, say not. After passing the goal line a winner by a neck, her horse stumbles and she is thrown to the road.

Besides the race scene Miss Normand takes a chance by hanging by her fingers from the roof of a building while a lightning bolt, does some fancy stunts from a high rock in a canyon, and a shark from a boat jumping to the ground, who a picture of the last motion picture fight ever filmed takes place in "Mickey". Two of the principals fight all over the grounds and before a hostile audience and when they are finished they look like two men who have been through a war.

The picture is a play is beautiful, especially the wonderful light and shadow scenes. The beauty of an action picture is also depicted with much precision and attention to detail.

Horlick's the Original Malted Milk. Avoid Imitations and Substitutes

Dear Miss Wise—I am sorry you gave me a little information. I have the misfortune of being an illegitimate child. When I was quite small my mother married and since then, I have gone by my step-father's name. I am engaged to be married to a man of this place and as he is very proud, I have not told him my story. Recently I have been told that I shall have to be married under my own name or the marriage will not be legal. Please tell me if this is true and please answer as soon as possible as I am

WORRIED

You will only be married by your first name and it is therefore legal for you not to use your real, last name. Also you can give your mother's name as your middle name such as Mary Blank Smith, when you get the license. I believe if I were you I would tell him all about it. If he really loves you, something you could not help should never come between you. If you tell him now, you may save yourself a lot of trouble later.

Will "The Young Lady," who wrote in Wednesday evening's Times for a place to stay and help with the house work, please call me at once? I think I have found just the place for you.

SOCIETY

A genial warmth and light of candles and sconces, accentuated the quaint atmosphere of All Saints' church Wednesday evening, making a picturesque setting when at half-past seven, the marriage of Miss Mary Damaris Varner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Varner, to John Lewis Neudorfer, took place, this being one of the notable events of early autumn. Cathedral candles placed on the altar, together with the profusion of pink and white roses, formed an appropriate background for the chancel, entwined with maiden-hair fern, backed with palms, and suspended overhead with festoons of smilax. While the guests assembled, Mrs. Samuel Rice, at the organ, played the March from "The Tales of Hoffman," and also accompanied Mrs. Wells A. Hutchins, who sang "I Love You Truly." The wedding music from J. S. Bach heralded the entrance of the bride party, led by Messrs. James Varner, the bride's brother, and Edith Williams, as Rector Powell preceded the groom and his best man, Mr. Dennis Rice, of Cleveland, who approached the altar from the rear entry. James A. Pearce and Charles Turley preceded the bridesmaids, Mrs. John Thompson (Garnet Rowland) of Greenup, and Miss Olive Koehler of Cincinnati, whose attractive frocks were of blue and white tulle; Miss Ellen Rogers of Mineral Springs and Miss Rachel Gregg of Hackensack, N. J., wore lovely egg blue tulle. Advancing alone, the matron of honor, Mrs. James A. Pearce, was followed by Miss Dorothy Varner, the petite maid of honor, both wearing rose tulle. Fashioned after the same design used for the bridesmaid's frocks. Each carried a bridal bouquet of Ophelia roses, tied with fluffy bows of tulle, giving a dainty finishing touch of the costumes. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her gown of tulle, a simply designed model in walking length, the skirt caught in panders at each side. The court train was caught to the shoulders, over which fell her veil of net held to her hair with a ribbon bandeau and orange blossoms. Her bouquet, of bride's roses was arranged in a waterfall cluster, intermingled with orange blossoms. The solemnity of the occasion was made more beautiful by the Episcopal service read by Rector E. A. Powell. The wedding march by Mendelssohn brought the happy scene to a close after which the wedding guests, continued to the relatives and intimate friends of the young people, were received in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Varner, on Timmons avenue.

Here the same exquisite taste in floral decoration and artistic ensemble was noticeably lovely. A profusion of varicolored wild flowers, arranged effectively, lent their beauty and fragrance to the memento. The gay company of friends joined in the festivities of the event and its happy memories will abide always.

The bride's mother, Mrs. J. H. Varner, was given in rich black lace over satin of the same color, finished with touches of silver. Miss Margaret Neudorfer, the groom's aunt, wore pale blue georgette, and Misses Clara and Irene Neudorfer were costumed in dainty pink and white.

Mrs. Henry T. Bannan was lovely in a gown of dark blue velvet.

In serving a refreshing luncheon in the dining-room Mrs. Henry T. Bannan, Mrs. Louis D. Corson and Mrs. William B. Allen assisted.

Among the guests from a distance who were here for the nuptials were, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rice of Cleveland, who visited with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rice of Hackensack avenue; Mr. and Mrs. James A. Pearce of Indianapolis, guests of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bauer of Fourth street; Mrs. Augusta Sappington of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Briggs and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Briggs of Cleveland, guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Briggs of Waller street; Mrs. John T. Thompson of Greenup; Mrs. Olla Gregg, of Hackensack, N. J.; Miss Rachel Gregg and Miss Mary Newton Gregg, of Hackensack, N. J., guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Bannan, of Bannan Place; Miss Olive Koehler of Cincinnati; Miss Ellen Rogers of Mineral Springs; Mr. A. F. Scherer and Mr. Frank Varner of Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Neudorfer left last night for a fortnight's visit in the East, during which they will make brief stops at Washington, D. C., Atlantic City and New York City. Upon their return they will receive their host of friends in their lovely home on Baird avenue, which has been furnished for occupancy.

The bride, one of Portsmouth's most charming young girls, received her finishing education at Sweetbrier College, Va., where her matron of honor also attended school. During the war she was also among the many young women who volunteered their services for government work in Washington, D. C., where she spent many months.

After being discharged from service in the U. S. Army, Mr. Neudorfer resumed his position as sales manager of the barrel department for the White-Glossner Company, where he is very popular with all his business associates.

Mrs. E. B. Lewis of Fourth street, is expected home tonight from a week's visit to relatives and friends in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kitch, of Harrisburg, Pa., who have been visiting with his brother, William Kitch and family, of Third street, have returned to their home.

Mrs. Everett T. Reeves and son Jack have returned to their home in Chillicothe, after a visit with Mrs. T. J. Hancock, of 702 Eubank street, and other relatives.

Ethel Clayton's Beautiful Complexion

That radiant actress, now appearing under the Paramount banner is famous for her beautiful complexion. She attributes her wonderful skin to the use of a simple toilet article called Derma. There is nothing like it for tan, freckles, dry nose, yellow, dark, rough skin. It takes the place of face powder, stays on better, no perspiration does not affect it, and it instantly liquidifies the complexion. Que application proves it. If you want a nice by-while skin with rosy cheeks, get a bottle of Derma today. You will be delighted. Derma is sold at all up-to-date toilet counters, or sure to find large department of Miss Clayton's room to appear in this paper. It tells how to instantly have a beautiful complexion and a soft, white, velvet skin everyone "just loves to touch."

Beautiful Star Has Strong Role In
"His Parisian Wife"

Elsie Ferguson the beautiful Art-craft star has a superb photoplay in "His Parisian Wife" her latest starring vehicle written by Eyo Unsell and directed by Emilio Chantari, which will be shown at the Lyric theatre tonight, only. Miss Ferguson plays the part of a girl reporter of Paris, and the role is said to afford her ample opportunities for the display of her rich dramatic talents.

As Fauvette, Miss Ferguson weds a Boston lawyer whose parents refuse to recognize her as their daughter-in-law, and their hostility towards her, based upon a complete misunderstanding of her nature leads to a separation from her husband. The eternal triangle enters into the story later with happy results, for the bride and her husband are reconciled after the former has won her spurs as a novelist of rare powers. The story is of unusual interest and deep heart appeal and its development to a logical denouement is accomplished without a jarring note. David Powell is the leading man.

THE MOVIES

Don't forget that "Mickey," the Big Picture Shows at the Columbia tonight.

"Mickey" that much advertised picture shown yesterday at the Columbia to immense crowds. The evening shows will start at 6:15 and 8:30 this evening and each evening for the next three days.

Don't put off seeing this great picture until the last day and if possible try and come to one of the afternoon shows and avoid the big jam at the two evening shows.

This is without doubt the greatest human life picture ever made and everybody will be singing the praises of "Mickey" as portrayed by Mabel Normand.

Every human emotion, every element of life, Mabel Normand portrays with such genuine artistry as only so overabundant and unforgettable a personality as Mickey can inspire.

So true and real is her charming portrayal of this famous personality that the audience lose themselves completely in her fascinating appeal.

She brings tears to the eyes at one moment and at the very next has her audience roaring with laughter. She registers equally well scenes of the broadest comedy, of tense dramatic interest, and in addition, performs breath-catching stunts that will thrill a whole nation.

Her quick responsive eyes and mobile countenance respond to every mood and Mickey becomes a living breathing personality, riveted by the undisputed ability of this adorable creature. Her peerless characterization will immortalize the name "Mickey."

"A Man's Country" starring the beautiful Alma Rubens at the Exhibit tonight—A Thrilling Romance of the West. Also Larry Simon in "His Home Sweet Home."

Huntington Vs. Ironton

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Sept. 11.—"Stopping the Sluggers" will be the main feature of League Park Sunday afternoon with "Hodge" Harry Workman and "Big Joe" Willis playing the leading parts. The series between Ironton and the Boosters should be one each and the club game will attract the largest gathering of fans that have witnessed a contest at the famous local lot this season.

Ring Hard Luck Pitcher

Probably no pitcher ever had such a run for him and seems to be utterly helpless when he is pitching. His game Tuesday was not quite up to his usual standard, but it was above the average and would have won if the Reds would have gotten any runs for him. Ring's last five games should all have been victories. He cannot now win fifteen games for his bonus, but is clearly entitled to it just the same on account of his excellent work on the mound.

Reds Beat Phils

The Reds turned the tables on the Phils yesterday and blanked them, 2 to 0, in a game that was a real test of the fourth when his hit scored the winning run.

Cleveland Going Some

It is not a certainty that the White Sox will repeat the pennant in the American League. The Cleveland Indians continue to creep up on the Sox. They will pull up alongside of the Sox.

REDS RETAIN LEAD

The Giants and Reds remained at a standstill Wednesday, so far as the pretty race between these clubs is concerned. Both won their games, and of course neither gained on the other. The Reds have only 13 more games to play and eight of them will be at home. The Giants, on the other hand, have 16 games left to play.

Martin To Join Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—An announcement was made today that Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, has purchased pitcher Pat Martin, a southpaw, from the Birmingham club of the International league for $3,000. The announcement of the "Philadelphia" club gave Martin a check for $3,000, one-half of the purchase price. He is 29 years old.

Evers Spied On Sox?

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—John Evers was a spectator at the White Sox-Washington game yesterday. He paid his way in gate, which aroused the suspicion that he was an ambassador of the Cincinnati team to get dope on the Sox. Evers explained that he always paid his way into ball parks because the only magazine who bothered to send him a pass was "The Sporting News" and he had not been in Chicago to use it. He said he happened to be here visiting a sister who had not seen for some time and wanted to see some Chicago folks again.

HIGH SCHOOL FLAG AT HALF MAST

Pedestrians passing Portsmouth High School are at a loss to know why the senior class flag is at half mast on the school flag pole. Some are advancing the theory that it is because the joyous ring of the school bell stopped the round of summer festivities. Others are saying the brand new seniors are mourning the fact that they must ever be on their dignity, and no longer may indulge in flights of irrepressible youthfulness that so characterized their junior year.

AUGUSTUS DILL IS HERE ON VISIT

Edmond Danter's Prison. Before the great world war the last prisoners condemned to the Chateau d'If, made famous by Dumas' novel, "The Count of Monte Cristo," were a number of Arabs seized during the Algerian revolt of 1871 and taken out in 1872 to be sent to French Guiana. Today the island's only interest is historical. When the tourists come to Murelles guides show them to the old dungeons the tunnels which the Abbe Faria dug into the cell of Edmond Danter. They even point out the spot where Danter, seen up in the abbey's shroud, was hurled into the sea, and so effected his escape. Satisfaction in Doing Right. Imagination is the father and mother of trouble when we let it run loose in a time of stress. But in the end the will and the heart are what determine our fate. After all, when we do right we have some satisfaction even if we suffer. But if we do nothing but drift along we have not even the satisfaction of knowing we deserve to come out right. History and Material Wealth. It is time we remembered that history does not concern herself about material wealth—that the life-blood of a nation is not that yellow life which fluctuates in the arteries of trade—that its true resources are religion, justice, sobriety, magnanimity, and the fair amenities of art.—Lowell

WORLD'S SERIES CONTESTS TO BE SHOWN HERE

Arrangements have been completed by H. P. York and H. H. Higgins of this city, to install the Star Ball Player service at Portsmouth and by means of direct telegraph communication to show every play made in the games. World's Series simultaneously with its execution in the actual game. To those who have frequented the large cities while World's Series contests were in progress, the Star Ball Player will need no introduction. Due to the limited capacity of even the largest base ball parks more people witness the World's Series through the Star Ball Player service than in any other way, even in the cities where the games are being played. The plays are executed on a large board resembling a base ball diamond with a movable ball and runners operated from the rear. Each ball, strike, hit and close decision on the bases are shown in the same manner as on the ball field and anyone who knows base ball will understand the plays perfectly the moment he sees the board in operation. The Star Ball Player is said to be the last word in the reproduction of base ball games, and must not be confused with mere primitive devices used for this purpose. Christy Mathewson says, "If I could not see the real game I would rather see it reproduced upon the Star Ball Player than by any other means."

APOLOGIES AND GREETINGS

WE feel that we owe an apology to our numerous friends and enemies at Ironton and elsewhere because of our absence from the elaborate social function which characterized the formal opening of our famous Hotel Hole in The Ground. We had expected to be there. We had prepared to be there and we had carefully prepared a splendid extemporaneous speech by way of burying "Hotel Hole in The Ground" and christening "The Marting." But we didn't get there and the only person who had to endure the speech was our stenographer who admits that it was not half bad. And why didn't we get there? Well, it was this way. For two years we had been almost daily and publicly invited to attend and participate in the first meal at "our hotel." Editor Corns wasted almost a barrel of ink explaining just what he intended to provide in a way of entertainment, and vociferously assured us that we need not to worry, that he had a special table engaged for his newspaper buddies, of whom he said we were one. Ordinarily we would squint at little at one of Corn's dinner invitations, but this time we took him at face value and sat down content. Others there were who said "Come" but we waved them away. But alas, we pinned our faith on a broken reed, for Corns shut up like a clam. He was impervious to hints and to suggestions. And the invitation we looked for never came. We noticed of late that Brother Corns has been walloping the good and kind Albert Sidney Bureson about the alleged inadequacy of his mail service so it is possible that our invitation may have been lost in transit and for the present we will content ourselves with this explanation and not say just what we could say about our loudly proclaimed but apparently missing host at the show-down.

P. S. It is our intention to soon make a visit in state to new Hotel Marting and verify all of the glowing things our local friends are saying about the establishment. We send greetings and good wishes in the meantime.

P. S. No. 2—We are also going to take Doc Tremper and his monkey wrench along.

MAY HIS LIKE EVER ARISE

JOHN Mitchell, one time president of the Mine Workers of America, died unexpectedly in New York, Tuesday, following an unsuccessful surgical operation.

The early retirement of John Mitchell, for he was not yet fifty years of age, from leadership in labor unions, which dates back several years, was a distinct loss, it would not be excessive to say a tragedy and calamity.

His earnestness in the cause was beyond cavil. Born to the coal mines and doing quite a man's part therein when he was only eleven years of age, he educated himself by the light of his miner's flare. It was his intention to become a lawyer, but while pursuing his studies therein, he became interested in the study of economics and finally determined to cast his lot actively and solely with those who toiled with their hands. He was prudent and he was just, with a mind set true in fairness. There was nothing of the noisy agitator about him and he despised a demagogue and his ways. His creed was sobriety and right. All labor was entitled to, he insisted, she should have; what was the portion of capital he would give no countenance to taking away from it.

A naturally able man, he played a conspicuous part in the war activities of a larger moment, but losing his place as head of the Mine Workers he lost the great influence he had with unions generally. That was no financial loss to him as he was able to obtain positions that paid him better than the one he retired from, but it was a distinctive loss to labor, which now more than ever needs leaders of his moderation and devotion.

THE HOME TAG DAY

We trust that Portsmouth people will be more than ordinarily generous in giving assistance to The Home For Aged Women by buying tags next Saturday when The Home has its annual Tag Day Sale. This is one of the most meritorious institutions in the city. It is supported entirely by private subscription and its affairs are managed and financed by a group of earnest and charitable women. They often have hard times in making both ends meet, but they have never faltered in the good work. You may be sure that every cent you give will be used to its utmost buying capacity in making life brighter and happier for those who reside at The Home. Have your money ready Saturday and help the good cause along.

MIGHT BE WORSE CALAMITY

THE Carnegie Foundation, an incorporation formed to give away some of the millions that Andy Carnegie couldn't give away fast enough, has issued an ultimatum, that no more Carnegie libraries will go up in Ohio until a score of recalcitrant cities, one of which Portsmouth is, pay up their dues according to the terms of the covenant and compact.

The terms, set by the thrifty Scotsman, were that the building should bear his name and pay out ten per cent of erection cost each year for operation. The first half was unfailing and unflinchingly kept, but the last was different. The cities were not as thrifty as the Scotsman and they didn't figure in ten years they would pay out the total construction and still be no nearer cancellation and acquittal of the compact than they ever were. So some of them have coolly defaulted, because they were greedy and bit a larger hunk out of their Uncle Andy's bank roll than they could afford to digest. It isn't nice in them to renege. A bargain is a bargain, as the small boy says in his higher sense of honor than possessed by a city, and it ought to be stuck to.

Refusing to deal on like terms with other cities of a great state is no way of squaring the account, but may be in that the Carnegie Foundation is kind instead of severe to the out-offs.

The public will lose three earnest, conscientious and effective public servants when Commissioners Worley, Hill and Bennett retire from office. These gentlemen have been efficient and economical. They have faced problems squarely, and have not lagged in matters affecting the future of the county. They have stood squarely behind the road building program and money, for the most part, has been spent intelligently and with a view to lasting good, rather than temporary benefit. In other matters of county administration the commissioners have met the people fairly and openly and have, with means at their command, taken care of emergencies and general demands. They retire from office with the consciousness of having done their duty, well and ably.

THE WISHING PLANE
BY WILLIS WINTER

Just a half an hour after the airplane left the ground at Mrs. Salter's on its race to the hospital at Lucerne with Ruth it landed on the hospital grounds. The same trip over the rough mountain roads in a wagon or even an auto would have taken a day or maybe more. Captain Beave escaped out of the plane. The doctor lifted Ruth out of the bed, handed her down to him and jumped down beside the captain. Together they hurried into the hospital and the doctor explained to the famous doctors there in a few words what Ruth's sickness was.

Then Ruth was hustled into a room and put into one of the hospital beds. She was so sick when the nurses told her in the bed that she couldn't even tell who her mamma was, which is pretty sick.

When Captain Beave, the doctor and Mrs. Salter came out of the hospital they, Jack, Jane, Ladydeer and Booh left the plane with the hospital attendants and went to one of the big tourist hotels to arrange for rooms. It was the first time during their trip that the children had stayed in a real cross-examining a lady witness who was undeniably pretty.

"Have you any idea what caused this accident?" thundered Lou.

"I think so," said the fair witness, sweetly.

"Then tell the court how it happened," thundered Lou, eager for facts.

"Just I tell the truth?"

"You have sworn to do so."

SENATOR WARREN
Gen. Pershing has brought back some tales of pretty hard soldiering to tell his family, but he hasn't any yarns of greater adventures than those of his own father-in-law, Senator Warren of Wyoming, who told Senator Warren was not a general in the Civil war, but he was a good private. When it came to ribbon decorations perhaps Gen. Pershing has a few more than Senator Warren, but the senator is the second possessor of the Congressional Medal of Honor, than which there is no mark of honor more distinguished.

Senator Warren began life on a farm in Hinsdale, Mass. Education came to him only after a hard struggle. He went to school five days a week, worked fifteen hours on Saturdays to pay for his board and trudged many miles over the hill roads on Sundays to visit his parents. Young Warren even borrowed money to purchase a suit of clothes that he might look presentable in school. He worked days and days for 20 cents a day to get the money to pay back what he had borrowed.

After the war he became a successful farmer in Massachusetts. But the east lacked adventure for Farmer Warren, so he went to Wyoming, where he had great success in the cattle business and in politics. He has been in the United States senate continuously since 1900. Before that he was a member of the Wyoming legislature, treasurer of Wyoming territory, three terms; member of the city council and mayor of Cheyenne; governor of Wyoming territory, and the first governor of Wyoming after it became a state.

"Well, sir, I was standing on the corner, and that gentleman turned to look at something and ran into the other machine."

"Ah," divided the astute Guernsey. "He turned to look at you. That makes you an accessory before the fact, upstate."

"I think it was the accessories he was looking at," murmured the witness.

Summer Joys
Had I the gift to weave a tale
In fragrant, drowsy verse,
The glories of the summer sale
In rhyme I would rehearse.

I'd sing about the fancy shirts
So cheap it seems a crime,
The pretty waists and pretty skirts
They offer for a dime.

The bargain suits in models new
The price most tempts a swoon,
The nobby "frocksers out in two,"
The "underwear half off."

I love the kindly merchant men,
Their summer wares are nice;
But give, I wish they'd put them when
I chance to have the price.

Wouldn't This Jar You?
They had been married twenty years, and it felt like forty.

"Henry," she said, nudging her husband as they sat in an overful car, "I believe that man over there is trying to flirt with me."

"Do you want me to go over and punch his head?" Henry asked sarcastically.

"Mercy, no!" his better half said. "I wouldn't have you do anything for the world. I just wanted you to know that there's somebody in the world who thinks I am worth nothing."

THE PRIZE MELON OF THE OLD MAN'S PATCH

New - York - Day - By - Day
BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Fifth avenue and the streets that wind off either lip are dotted with so called art shops presided over by the smoothest set of crooks out of Sing Sing. Of course there are exceptions here and there. As a class they are a band of thieves on painted canvas.

The passing of Ralph Blakelock was an instantaneous action on the part of dealers to triple the price on his paintings—and most of them are faked. There are more fake Blakelocks than perhaps any other paintings. Instead of spending money to have pictures faked, the dealers—if they were genuinely interested in art—should have affixed to a few crusts of bread to the geniuses of the garrets.

They never try to develop Art. They simply suck its life blood. This country is peculiarly nourished in New York. In other cities and art centers the dealers as a class rank high—but the art game here is in the same class as billed steering and the polished crook thinks a soft target.

There is something about the New York art shops that excite a peculiar phase of hypnosis. I have noticed it myself and I find that once inside I begin to whisper in awed tones. There is a grand and gloomy atmosphere and pretty soon you find yourself tip-toeing. And all the time you know the fashionably crooked dealer with the silken mustache is getting ready to rob you—if he can.

Visitors to the art shops more about in little groups. They never mingle. There are great drowsy waves people rest as if in the shadow of an altar and talk softly and motion with silent hands. There is a reaction when you land out on the sidewalk again. If you have made a purchase you want to go up a side street and apply the foot and nearly always you sink home.

The large and other eccentric eye-glasses abound at the art shops. The latest styles in glasses are always on view. A group of people wearing glasses exert some peculiar psychological condition within me. I always feel like a worm-like a load-carrier at a heavy party. But even at that there is a feeling of uplift after looking around among the artistic Alt Halls of the Avenger.

Had it not been for the actor's strike, Willard Mack, actor and playwright, would have led a new Broadway record for simultaneous production of plays. There was once a time when the late Clyde Fitch for a single week had no less than five plays of his authorship current in New York. But for the closed theatres Mack would have had six in one week.

He was a little two-headed shaver with great blue eyes and more magnificent looks than those of Julius Caesar. And he was sitting on the curb at Columbus Circle with his head against an iron post sound asleep while the hot sun rays beat down upon him. A policeman gave him a gentle prod and he came to with a whisper.

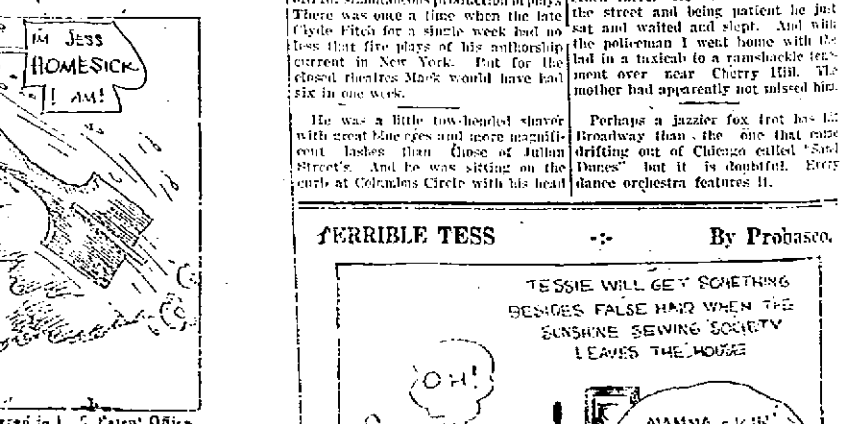

"How long you been here sonny?" asked the cop.

"Since last night," he replied. It was then noon.

And upon inquiry it proved to be true. The little mite of humanity, a mere speck in the city's tide of traffic, had dozed against the lamp-post and stuck there. He was afraid to cross the street and being patient he just sat and waited and slept. And while the policeman I went home with the lad in a taxi cab to a ramshackle tenement over near Cherry Hill. The mother had apparently not missed him.

Perhaps a jazzier fox trot has hit Broadway than the one that came out of Chicago called "Said Dances." And he was sitting on the curb at Columbus Circle with his head

MACHINE GUNS USED ON RIOTERS STEELWORKERS TO STRIKE SEP. 22

THREE KILLED AND SCORE WOUNDED IN NIGHT OF RIOTING

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—State guardsmen opened fire with machine guns on a mob in South Boston late last night, killing one and wounding several others.

Before the cavalry and infantry had succeeded in clearing Scollay Square one volunteer policeman and three state guardsmen had been injured and taken to a hospital. All were hit in the head by flying missiles, mostly bottles.

The third day of the police strike opened with a casualty list of three persons killed and nearly a score, including four women, injured as a result of the activities of state troops in policing the city last night. The military forces, 5,000 in number, were under orders to restore lawful conditions, to the point of using ball ammunition with which they were provided, if necessary. Success in quelling the rioting and suppressing the looting of previous hours marked their efforts to a large degree, although in some sections the mobs were not controlled and there were several serious riots. In these most of the casualties occurred. Show windows were broken in many places, but in only a few was there looting, and the skeleton police, being quick to reach the scene of the disturbances.

Crowds filled the streets during most of the night. They surged through the business district with accompanying disorders and looting. The streets in South Boston and in many instances, only by cavalrymen and the use of riot guns were they dispersed. The sight of well armed soldiers and cavalrymen on the streets gave a sense of security.

CROWDS OUT TO LISTEN TO OPPOSITION ADDRESSES

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Crowds in vain besieged the Auditorium theater, where Republican senators began their western speaking tour in answer to President Wilson's demands for unconditional acceptance or total rejection of the peace treaty and League of Nations covenant. Before 8 o'clock, the hour for opening the speaking, the theater was filled and thousands of persons were left in the streets.

The thousands within and without had come to hear Senators William Borah, of Idaho; Hiram W. Johnson, of California; and McMillin, of Illinois, the latter presiding at the meeting, expand their views on the peace treaty and League of Nations covenant and reply to President Wilson's utterances on his dying round the country.

"No two men who wrote that treaty can agree now as to what it means," said Senator Borah, amid laughter.

"We in the senate want to construct that treaty, if possible. The president says that the treaty assures peace. Well, in 1919, he said, we must elect him for he would keep us out of war. A few months later we were in the war. I don't believe much in prophets."

"I don't want to go into a league at all, personally, but I didn't make the issue. Now, I am particularly anxious to find a way out of it. If we must go in, that is what the senate wants to do now—a reservation which will provide a method of withdrawal."

"Do any of you want to go into a league that you can't get out of?" All over the hall there were cries of "No, no."

"Is there an American who wants a foreign nation to say what and where the Monroe doctrine shall apply," went on the speaker. Again there were cries of "No."

Looting Of American And Other Embassies By Reds In Petrograd Confirmed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Looting of the American and other embassies in Petrograd has been confirmed by an investigation made for the state department. It was announced today by Acting Secretary Phillips. A cablegram dated September 6, said that Bolsheviks during the middle of July sacked the American embassy, which since has been used for housing families of some of the Bolshevik communists. Most of the foreign embassies by the Bolsheviks arrested by the Bolsheviks in these raids have been sent to Mermov, it was said.

In the raid on the American embassy, Miss Karin Sante was at first put under arrest and later released, but sent to Moscow with the other foreigners. The Misses Kennedy and Levingstone, other employees, were not molested. None of these were American. Miss Sante was a Finnish employe of the embassy, who consented to remain in charge of the embassy premises and archives. Most of the embassy archives had been removed from Petrograd.

Recently an embassy, not an American, sent into the Bolshevik territory to ascertain the facts regarding the looting of the embassy, was killed by the Bolsheviks.

CHICAGO'S BUILDING TIE-UP ENDS

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—After weeks of being up by a strike of carpenters and a lockout of office trades, Chicago's building industry will be resumed tomorrow and will be in full swing by Monday. This announcement was made after two days' conference between leaders.

The agreement provides that the carpenters are to resume work at 52 1/2 cents an hour until May, 1920, when they will be placed on the same wage basis existing for other skilled trades. The carpenters struck for $1 an hour. A special meeting for ratification of the agreement will be held tonight, according to President Deins and other members of the committee.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Stocks broke sharply at the opening of today's session, reactions of 3 to 11 points resulting from the call of the steel leaders for a general strike on September 22. Steels fell and lowest quotation of 191 represented an extreme reversal of yesterday's final price. United Steel fell 11 points, but soon made up 10 1/2 points, ending at 101 1/2. Republic fell 4 points, ending at 101 1/2. American Steel fell 3 points, ending at 101 1/2. Other steel stocks were lower by 2 to 6 points.

WILSON'S PLEA TO DELAY WALKOUT IS REJECTED BY UNION OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Regard- working to obtain results for the less of the request of President Wilson that they take an action pending the coming industrial conference, representatives of organized workers in the steel industry late today called a strike effective September 22, to compel recognition of their unions and of the principle of collective bargaining by the United States Steel Corporation.

The executive council of the twenty-four unions represented among the workers made known their decision in an announcement issued after they had requested the president by telegraph for a more definite statement as to the possibilities of arranging a conference with steel corporation officials and after they had received a reply from the president asking that they withhold action until after the industrial conference.

CHICAGO'S BUILDING TIE-UP ENDS

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—After weeks of being up by a strike of carpenters and a lockout of office trades, Chicago's building industry will be resumed tomorrow and will be in full swing by Monday. This announcement was made after two days' conference between leaders.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Stocks broke sharply at the opening of today's session, reactions of 3 to 11 points resulting from the call of the steel leaders for a general strike on September 22. Offerings of United States Steel were an exception that first quotations were not available until about 15 minutes after the market opened. Steels fell and lowest quotation of 191 represented an extreme reversal of yesterday's final price. United Steel fell 11 points, but soon made up 10 1/2 points, ending at 101 1/2. Republic fell 4 points, ending at 101 1/2. American Steel fell 3 points, ending at 101 1/2. Other steel stocks were lower by 2 to 6 points.

Famous Norwood Team To Tackle All Stars Here Sunday

Big Game Is Scheduled For Millbrook; Spiders Will Play Rosemount

Another big bargain bill has been arranged by Manager W. N. Gableman for next Sunday when the crack Norwoods will play the All Stars at Millbrook. The Norwoods, who are a set-to with the All Stars, are sure to be a team to watch in the first contest in opening the fall. Hubert will pitch for the Spiders opposed by Jeffery, the star pitcher of the Rosemount crew.

The Norwoods will troop into town Sunday with an aggregation of the best ball talent the country affords and they come with a guaranteed lineup and this assures local fans they will see the star players of the champions in action and get just what they pay for and nothing else.

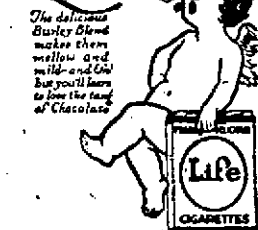

In the Norwoods the locals will no doubt have all they can handle and the contest should be one of the most interesting battles staged in these parts for a long time. The Norwoods swing rusty war clubs and it is going to take good pitching to stop them but Manager Brennan is certain that Oscar DeLottelle is the lad who can turn the trick.

The Norwoods will bring the following lineup: Kintnerman or Well, c; Werner, 1; Mulvaney or Alberts, r; Timmer, 2b; Magness, 2; Holly, m; Keary or Kintnerman, 3; Munson or Norack, c; Tremmery or Rube Benton, p.

Nine members of the champions fought for Uncle Sam in France and Italy during the Great War and the home folks at Norwood are proud of their warriors.

The first game will be called promptly at 1:45 with Empire Buck Yeager officiating.

Duncan Is Making Good

That boy Duncan may not be hitting 300 for the Reds, but he certainly hits in places. He has already won three games for his team. His latest single in the fourth yesterday, beat the Phils. Many believe Duncan will be a star in the big league.

PENNY ANTE

Huntington Vs. Ironton

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Sept. 11.—Season.

"Stopping the Shogers" will be the one red feature of League Park Sunday afternoon with "Hodge" Harry Workman and "Big Joe" Willie playing the leading parts.

The series between Ironton and the Roosters stands one each, and the rub game will attract the largest gathering of fans that have witnessed a contest at the famous local lot this season.

Ring Hard Luck Pitcher

Probably no pitcher ever had such a run for him and seems to be utterly helpless when he is pitching. His game Tuesday was not quite up to his usual standard, but it was above the average and would have won if the Reds would have gotten any runs for him. Ring's last five games should all have been victories. He cannot now win fifteen games for his bonus, but his is clearly entitled to it just the same on account of his excellent work on the mound.

Champs Off For Wheeling

The champion steel plant ball team, 16 strong, headed by Manager Earl Clark, will leave this afternoon on a trip to Wheeling, W. Va., and while in the West, Virginia metropolis will hook up in a trio of battles on the diamond with a club representing the Whitaker-Glessner Company's big plant in that city, playing one game tomorrow and two games Saturday. Manager Earl Clark is confident his tribe will be able to take the measure of the foe in these contests.

Whitaker, the craft shrewd, is sure to work in the first contest and may be sent to the firing line in one of the other contests if Lefty Grice or Hansen get in distress.

The club is making the trip at the expense of The Whitaker-Glessner Co., as a reward for cupping the rag in the Industrial League race, and while on West Virginia soil they will be the guests of the officials of the company.

The officials have arranged one continuous round of entertainment for the boys and have sent word nothing will be left undone to make their visit pleasant.

Returning, the team will leave Wheeling Saturday night and they are due to arrive home Sunday noon in time for some of the members of the team to get in the line-up of the All Stars in their clash with the crack Norwoods at Millbrook Park in the afternoon.

Reds Beat Phils

The Reds turned the tables on the Phils yesterday and blanked them, 2 to 0, Duncan winning the game in the fourth when his hit scored the run.

Benton To Join Reds

Benton, who will pitch for the Norwood team Sunday against the All Stars in Millbrook park may get a try out this fall or next spring with the Reds. He is a real twister and many believe he is ripe for big league pitching.

Keep Eye On Pirates

The Pirates have been playing bang up ball the past three weeks and may yet overtake the Cubs, who are riding in third place. The first three teams will cut in on the world series race. Southworth, of course is playing fine ball for the Pirates.

Cleveland Going Some

It is not a certainty that the White Sox will cup the pennant in the American league. The Cleveland Indians continue to creep up on the Sox. They won two games yesterday, while the Sox were idle. If the Indians should have a good trip they probably will pull on alongside of the Sox.

REDS RETAIN LEAD

The Giants and Reds remained at a standstill Wednesday, so far as the pretty race between these clubs is concerned. Both won their games, and of course neither gained on the other.

The Reds have only 13 more games to play and eight of them will clinch the pennant, even should the Giants cap all the rest they have to play.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—John Evers was a spectator at the White Sox-Washington game yesterday. He paid his way through, which aroused the suspicion that he was a publisher of the Cincinnati team, to get into the Sox. Evers explained that he always paid his way into ball parks because the only magazine who renewed to send him a pass was Charles A. Comiskey, and he had not been in Chicago to use it. He said he happened to be here visiting a sister whom he had not seen for some time and wanted to see some Chicago folks again.

WORLD'S SERIES CONTESTS TO BE SHOWN HERE

Arrangements have been completed by H. L. Cook and H. H. Hagley of this city, to install the Star Ball Player series at Portsmouth and by means of direct telegraph communication to show every play made in the contest. World's Series almost simultaneously with the execution in the actual game.

To those who have frequented the large cities while World's Series contests were in progress, the Star Ball Player will need no introduction, owing to the limited capacity of even the largest base ball parks more people witness the World's Series through the Star Ball Player series than in any other way, even in the cities where the games are being played.

APOLOGIES AND GREETINGS

We feel that we owe an apology to our numerous friends and enemies at fronton and elsewhere because of our absence from the elaborate social function which characterized the formal opening of our famous Hotel Hole in The Ground. We had expected to be there. We had prepared to be there and we had carefully prepared a splendid extemporaneous speech by way of burying "Hotel Hole in The Ground" and christening "The Marting." But we didn't get there and the only person who had to endure the speech was one stenographer who admits that it was not half bad. And why didn't we get there? Well, it was this way. For two years we had been almost daily and publicly invited to attend and participate in the first meal at "our hotel." Editor Corns wasted almost a barrel of ink explaining just what he intended to provide in the way of entertainment, and vociferously assured us that we need not to worry, that he had a special table engaged for his newspaper buddies, of whom he said we were one. Ordinarily we would squint at title at one of Corn's dinner invitations, but this time we took him at face value and sat down content. Others there were who said "Come" but we waved them away. But alas, we pinned our faith on a broken reed, for Corn shut up like a clam. He was impervious to hints and to suggestions. And the invitation we looked for never came. We noticed of late that Brother Corns has been walloping the good and kind Albert Sidney Barleson about the alleged inadequacy of his mail service so it is possible that our invitation may have been lost in transit and for the present we will content ourselves with this explanation and not say just what we could say about our loudly proclaimed but apparently missing host at the slow down.

P. S. It is our intention to soon make a visit in state to new Hotel Marting and verify all of the glowing things our local friends are saying about the establishment. We send greetings and good wishes in the meantime.

P. S. No. 2—We are also going to take Doc Tremper and his monkey wrench along.

MAY HIS LIKE EVER ARISE

JOHN Mitchell, one time president of the Mine Workers of America, died unexpectedly in New York Tuesday, following an unsuccessful surgical operation.

The early retirement of John Mitchell, for he was not yet fifty years of age, from leadership in labor unions, which dates back several years, was a distinct loss, it would not be excessive to say a tragedy and calamity.

His earnestness in the cause was beyond evil. Born to the coal mines and doing quite a man's part therein when he was only eleven years of age, he educated himself by the light of his miner's flare. It was his intention to become a lawyer, but while pursuing his studies therein, he became interested in the study of economics and finally determined to cast his lot actively and solely with those who toiled with their hands. He was prudent and he was just, with a mind set true in fairness. There was nothing of the noisy agitator about him and he despised a demagog and his ways. His creed was sobriety and right. All labor was entitled to, he insisted, she should have; what was the portion of capital he would give no countenance to taking away from it.

A naturally able man, he played a conspicuous part in the war activities of a larger moment, but losing his place as head of the Mine Workers he lost the great influence he had with unions generally. That was no financial loss to him as he was able to obtain positions that paid him better than the one he retired from, but it was a distinctive loss to labor, which now more than ever needs leaders of his moderation and devotion.

THE HOME TAG DAY

We trust that Portsmouth people will be more than ordinarily generous in giving assistance to The Home For Aged Women by buying tags next Saturday when The Home has its annual Tag Day Sale. This is one of the most meritorious institutions in the city. It is supported entirely by private subscription and its affairs are managed and financed by a group of earnest and charitable women. They often have hard times in making both ends meet, but they have never faltered in the good work. You may be sure that every cent you give will be used to its utmost buying capacity in making life brighter and happier for those who reside at The Home. Have your money ready Saturday and help the good cause along.

MIGHT BE WORSE CALAMITY

THE Carnegie Foundation, an incorporation formed to give away some of the millions that Andy Carnegie couldn't give away fast enough, has issued an ultimatum, that no more Carnegie libraries will go up in Ohio until a score of recalcitrant cities, one of which Portsmouth is, pay up their dues according to the terms of the covenant and compact.

The terms, set by the thrifty Scotsman, were that the building should bear his name and pay out ten per cent of erection cost each year for operation. The first half was unfailing and unflinchingly kept, but the last was different. The cities were not as thrifty as the Scotsman and they didn't figure in ten years they would pay out the total construction and still be no nearer cancellation and acquittal of the compact than they ever were. So some of them have coolly defaulted, because they were greedy and bit a larger hunk out of their Uncle Andy's bank roll than they could afford to digest. It isn't nice in them to renege. A bargain is a bargain, as the small boy says in his higher sense of honor than possessed by a city, and it ought to be stuck to.

Refusing to deal on like terms with other cities of a great state is no way of squaring the account, but may be in that the Carnegie Foundation is kind instead of severe to the cut-offs.

The public will lose three earnest, conscientious and effective public servants when Commissioners Worley, Hill and Bennett retire from office. These gentlemen have been efficient and economical. They have faced problems squarely, and have not lagged in matters affecting the future of the county. They have stood squarely behind the road building program and money, for the most part, has been spent intelligently and with a view to lasting good, rather than temporary benefit. In other matters of county administration the commissioners have met the people fairly and openly and have, with means at their command, taken care of emergencies and general demands. They retire from office with the consciousness of having done their duty, well and ably.

THE WISHING PLANE

Just a half an hour after the air-ship left the ground at Mrs. Satter's house, she knew they would have a good time while also being kind on its race to the hospital at Luccan with Ruth in the hospital.

The children weren't allowed to visit Ruth for two or three days. Lady-dear told them that the doctors at the hospital had to perform an operation on the little girl so that she might get well again. If you don't know what an operation is, I'm afraid you'll have to ask mother or father to tell you. They'll know that it was a pretty serious thing for little Ruth and that Mrs. Satter had a good reason to look awfully sad until it was all over and the doctors said that Ruth was out of danger and would soon be well and able to play around.

When the nurses finally said that folks besides her mother could see Ruth, Jack and Jane, with Lady-dear, went to the hospital and for half an hour the little folks talked just as fast as they could. Jack and Jane had many things to tell Ruth about Lucerne and Ruth told them how it seemed to be "cooped up" in a hospital with many sick folks in other rooms near you. The nurses had told her many of the cutest stories you can imagine and she told them to Jack and Jane.

There was one about a little blind boy who had come to the hospital just a few weeks before Ruth came. He hadn't been able to see since he was two years old. He was seven when he came to the hospital. You'll have to figure out how many years he had been blind. The famous doctors at the hospital, with their wonderful instruments, fixed his eyes so that in a couple of weeks he could notice great big things between him and the light. And when he left the hospital he knew that as soon as his eyes got real strong he would be able to see everything and even read.

Then Ruth was hustled into a room and put into one of the hospital beds. She was so sick when the nurses found her in the bed that she couldn't even tell who her mamma was, which is pretty sick.

When Captain Brave, the doctor and Mrs. Satter came out of the hospital they, Jack, Jane, Lady-dear and Ruth left the place with the hospital attendants and went to one of the big tourist hotels to arrange for rooms. It was the first time during their trip that the children had stayed in a real

WHO'S WHO

IN THE DAYS NEWS

SENATOR WARREN
Gen. Pershing has brought back some tales of pretty hard soldiering to tell his family, but he hasn't any sense of greater adventures than those his own father-in-law, Senator Francis L. Warren of Wyoming, can tell.

Senator Warren was not a general in the Civil war, but he was a good private. When it came to ribbon decorations perhaps Gen. Pershing has a few more than Senator Warren, but the senator is the proud possessor of the Congressional Medal of Honor, which there is no match of honor more distinguished.

Senator Warren began life on a farm in Illinois, Mass. Education came to him only after a hard struggle. He went to school five days a week, worked fifteen hours on Saturdays to pay for his board and trudged many miles over the hill roads on Sundays to visit his parents. Young Warren even borrowed money to purchase a suit of clothes that he might look presentable in school. He worked days and nights for 50 cents a day to get the money to pay back what he had borrowed.

After the war he became a successful farmer in Massachusetts. But the most lucked adventure for Farmer Warren, so he went to Wyoming, where he had great success in the cattle business and in politics. He has been in the United States senate continuously since 1890. Before that he was a member of the Wyoming legislature, treasurer of Wyoming territory, three terms; member of the city council and mayor of Cheyenne; governor of Wyoming territory, and the first governor of Wyoming after it became a state.

"Well, sir, I was standing on the corner, and that gentleman turned to look at something and ran into the other one."

"Ah," dropped the acute financier. "He turned to look at you. That makes you an accessory before the fact, madame."

"I think it was the accessories he was looking at," murmured the witness.

Summer Days
I had the gift to weave a tale in fragrant, flowery verse.
The choruses of the summer set—
In rhyme I would rehearse.

It's sing about the fancy skirts
So cheap it seems a crime.
The pretty waists and pretty skirts
They offer for a dime.

The baron suits in models new
(The price most tempt a coo).
The nicely "trousers cut in two."
The "underwear half off."

I have the kindly merchant men,
Their summer sales are also;
But gee, I wish they'd pull them when
I chance to have the price.

"Henry," she said, nodding her husband as they sat in an overfull car. "I believe that man over there is trying to flirt with me."
"Do you want me to go over and punch his head?" Henry asked sarcastically.
"Mercy, no!" his better half said. "I wouldn't have you do anything for the world. I just wanted you to know that there's somebody in the world who thinks I am worth noticing."

THE PRIZE MELON OF THE OLD MAN'S PATCH

New - York - Day - By - Day

BY
O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Fifth avenue and the streets that would not either hip are dotted with so called art shops presided over by the smoothest set of crooks out of Sing Sing. Of course there are exceptions but they are rare. As a class they are a band, uncouth lot of artistic buzzards. They thrive on palatial carillon.

The passing of Ralph Blakelock was an instantaneous action on the part of dealers to triple the price on his paintings—and most of them are faked. There are more fake Blakelocks than perhaps any other painting.

Instead of spending money in have pictures faked, the dealers—if they were genuinely interested in art—could well afford to loan a few crates of bread to the geniuses of the gallery.

They never try to develop art. They store it in the village church and the clear had announced the banns and marriage, the last couple to be mentioned being John Thomas Hay and Anne Oate. The couple then announced the announcement by the choir: "What Will the Harvest Be?"

Needless to say, the vicar will exorcise greater care in choosing his partners next time.

simply suck life blood. This condition is peculiarly nourished in New York. In other cities and art centers the dealers as a class rank high—but the art game here is in the same class as bunches steering and the polished crook finds a soft harbor.

There is something about the New York art shops that excite a peculiar phase of hypnosis. I have noticed it myself and I find that once inside I begin to wander in a dazed tone. There is a grand and gloomy atmosphere and pretty soon you find yourself yawning. And all the time you know the fastidious groomed guide with the sullen mischievous is getting ready to rob you—if he can.

Visitors to the art shops move about in little groups. They never mingle. There are great divans where people rest as if in the shadow of an altar and talk softly and motion with slight nods. There is a reaction when you land out on the sidewalk again. If you have made a purchase you want to go up a side street and apply the boot and nearly always you stick home.

The forgeries and other counterfeit pictures abound at the art shops. The latest styles in glasses are always on view. A group of people wearing glasses assert some peculiar psychological condition within me. I always feel like a worm—like a hot-writer at a lawn party. But even at that there is a feeling of uplift after poking around among the artistic Al Babb's of the Avenue.

against an iron post sound asleep while the hot sun rays beat down upon him. A policeman gave him a gentle prod and he came to with a whimper. "How long you been here sommy?" asked the cop. "Blimey last night," he replied. It was then noon.

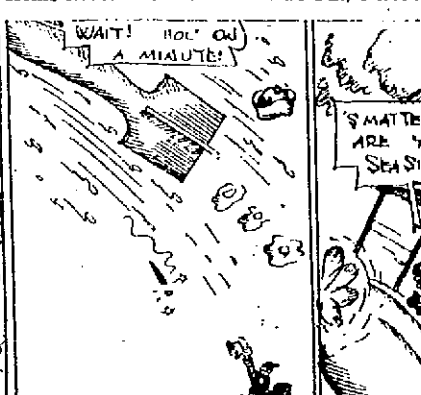

And upon inquiry it proved to be true. The little night of humanity, a more spark in the city tide of traffic, had eddied against the limpet and stuck there. He was afraid to cross the street and being patient he just sat out waited and slept. And with the policeman I went home with the lad in a taxicab to a ramshackle tenement over near Cherry Hill. The mother had apparently not missed him.

OBITUARY

Alma Edith Gammon
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gammon, of Sunning, Ky., was saddened Friday, Sept. 5, at eight p. m., when the death angel took their only daughter, Alma Edith, who had been seriously ill for more than a week with complications. Her death was peaceful, and in her delicate state she survived a few hours.

The child was born Sept. 24, 1911, being seven years, eleven months and thirteen days old at the time of her death. She was a lovely child, beyond the average in intelligence, and had many friends and was loved by all who knew her.

She is survived by her parents and four brothers, Harold, in New York City, Wade, who sadly missed her. This was the first death in the family and the blow seems almost unbearable.

Funeral services were held at the home at 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning, Sept. 7, with Rev. Robert Morrison in charge. Burial in Mt. Zion cemetery.

144 Fires Are Reported, 11 Are Found Bona Fide

JACKSON, Sept. 11.—The sudden ending of the trial of W. W. Fire for forgery when the defense submitted the case without offering evidence or argument came as a great surprise. Prosecutor John G. Evans spoke briefly for the state, but when the defense announced that they would offer no argument, the case went to the jury without argument on the part of the state.

The defense announced that a motion for a new trial will be filed on the ground of error. The motion must be filed in three days. The penalty for forgery is imprisonment for from one to twenty years, but Conroy already had received a sentence under the new law.

The State Fire marshal is continuing investigations of alleged fires, and it is reported that 144 cases have been mentioned up to this time, of which perhaps eleven are bona fide.

In the trial just ended, only one of the three fires was contested. There remained eleven other indictments against him, three for forgery, four for obtaining money under false pretenses, and four for issuing instruments.

Twelve indictments were brought May 28, 1919, against W. W. Fire and eleven indictments against Fred T. Rice, making thirteen indictments altogether against the three men. A number of the cases are felonies while others are misdemeanors.
